Sabbatical Update

It has been several months since I announced my sabbatical leave from my practice, so I wanted to send you a brief update on my current status. As I told you earlier, because of my heavy consultation schedule, I found that I did not have the much needed time to develop the business end of my practice, as well as time for personal study. I also found that I needed some quiet time to deal with some of my own health issues. In the weeks that have passed, I have been working on all of the above mentioned things. I am pleased to report that I have made much progress in all areas, although, I still have some issues that need further attention.

I have spent much of the time dealing with my own healing. I am doing well, but need more time. In addition, I have been working on improving the various aspects of my existing practice. Also, I have been working on the development of some exciting ideas for new workshops. I hope to announce them by late spring. As always, if you have particular needs or ideas that you would like to share, I welcome your comments and suggestions.

I want to take this opportunity to thank each of you for your continued support and encouragement. You all have been so very important to me as I have been going through this time of healing and growth.

I will stay in contact to keep you informed of my plans. I am looking forward to working with all of you again soon.

Merry Christmas and many blessings to you and your family,

Karin
